

Adopters Notes for

Microchip #

Vaccine history

Medications

ALWAYS KEEP THE MICROCHIP COMPANY UP TO DATE WITH ANY CHANGES IN YOUR INFORMATION.

WE WOULD LIKE TO STAY IN TOUCH TOO.
YOU CAN FOLLOW US ON FACEBOOK
WWW.FACEBOOK.COM/WERESCUEHUSKIES

How YOU Can Help Us

ADOPT from us

DONATE

alleysrescuedangels.org/donate/

Spread the adoption message

Hundreds of huskies die in shelters every month because too many breeders are pumping out litters

Organize a fundraiser for us

Ralphs Shoppers link your rewards card to us and they'll donate a % of your grocery spend to us. It doesn't cost you a cent (our charity #93718)

Other ways to help us

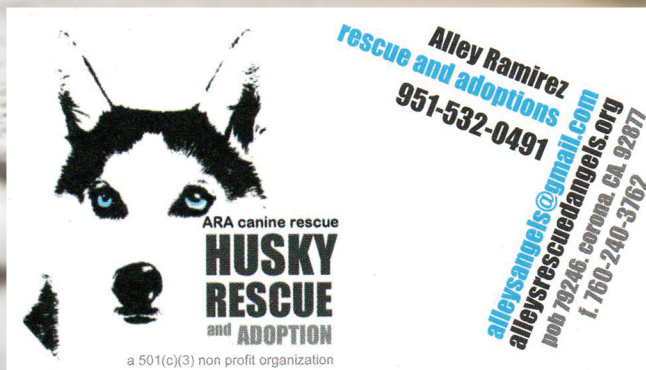

Our Amazon wish list

a 501(c)(3) non profit organization
EIN# 45-2274989

Save A Life ADOPT A HUSKY

alleysrescuedangels.org

About us

We are an all volunteer, non-profit, Siberian Husky rescue organization based in Apple Valley, California. We have a 10 acre ranch where all of our rescued huskies have comfortable kennels and get plenty of socialization and playtime as they await their new families. Founded in 2009, and incorporated as 501(c)(3) in 2011

We are dedicated to saving the lives of abandoned Siberian Huskies throughout the counties of Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino. There's a high demand for our help in other Southern California counties too.

Many of the huskies we have available for adoption are young, healthy and beautiful but we are a very compassionate group who also focus on helping the most needy cases too.

We rescue the ones that have been hit by cars & have broken bones. We save the sick, the blind, the seniors, the ones that get left behind. We pay for vet care and surgeries and provide our rescued dogs with safety and love.

We are able to do this because people like you send us your tax deductible donations.

No Sibe should be left behind.

Awards

Approved Heigl Foundation Rescue.
California State Senate Recognition
Guidestar.org Award Partner in Trust

Is a husky right for you?

If you want a dog who is...

Free-spirited, playful & independent

Athletic and loves the outdoors

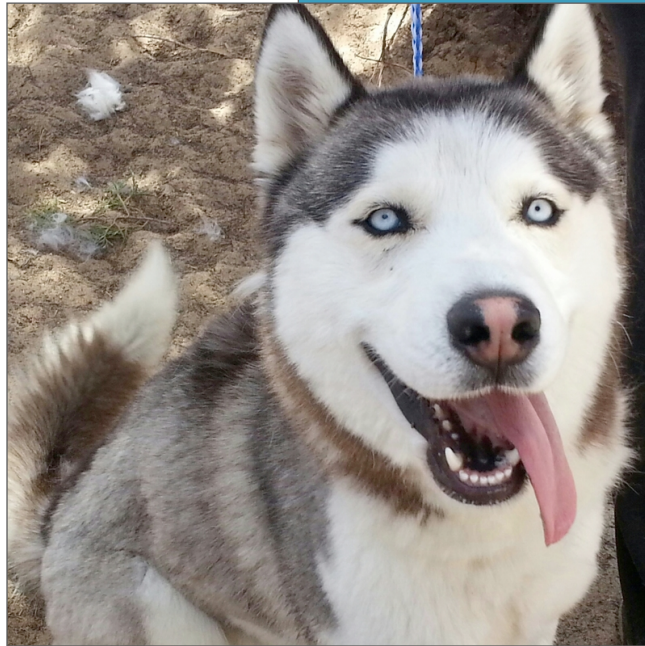

Sociable with other dogs

Usually good-natured with strangers

Furry, with a wolfish appearance

Enjoys running full-speed

then a Siberian may be right for you.

If you can't deal with...

Escaping, in search of adventure

Strong-willed mind of their own

Vigorous exercise requirements

Heavy shedding

Massive destructiveness & howling when bored, left alone too much, or not exercised enough

Strong instincts to chase & grab anything that runs, i.e. cats

Rowdiness & exuberant jumping, especially when young

A Siberian may not be right for you

Never Shave your Siberian Husky except in medical emergencies.

There are vets and "professional" groomers out there who will tell you to shave your Husky. These people are uninformed about the breed.

Dogs don't sweat like humans. Their cooling process is done via panting from the mouth, sweating at the paws and cooling the blood in their ears. Shaving the dog does nothing to keep the dog cool. It just makes the human feel better when looking at the coated dog.

The Siberian Husky has little to no pigmentation in its skin. If you shave the Husky, you expose it to the sun without protection. Now you have a dog that can come up with a variety of skin problems including skin cancer.

Fur acts as a protection against insects and parasites. You remove that protection the dog is exposed to even more insect problems than he would have had if he had been allowed to keep his protective coat.

Shaving/clipping makes Huskies more susceptible to skin allergies, sun burn and parasite infestation. The treatments for these problems can then lead to more serious conditions.

The husky top coat works as the reflective barrier. Shaving this coat exposes the undercoat and when the two coats grow they no longer "blend" properly to allow the maximum protection necessary or maintain the look in which the husky is known for.

Get a good brush and a good vacuum.